To Whom It May Concern:

Please accept this letter as my personal letter of recommendation for Shayan Richet. As co-owner of Cedar Chiropractic Center, I hired Shayan to train my 7 year old daughter, at the time, in the art of horseback riding. He immediately became an integral part of our lives. Now, one year later, he is in pursuit of new opportunities to expand his considerable skills.

Shayan has a winning attitude that embraces all challenges and encourages collaboration. He, in a sense, makes you want to succeed for him and for yourself. The phrase "team player" is often overused, but Shayan is truly that. He draws the best out of every person, promotes talent and shares successes. He quickly became a shining example and excellent role model for my daughter in every aspect of horseback riding from taking care of the horse to taking pride in everything she did. Shayan is also an amazing teacher. He clearly communicates expectations and notes strengths to better improve his student's performance. I honestly believe that he can truly get the best out of any student and/or horse for that matter. I've personally seen him train horses so completely that I can barely recognize them as being the same horse.

Shayan has a generous spirit and is a loyal, positive individual. He's also the "go-to" guy in every aspect of the horse industry; people continually turn to him for extra help both personally and professionally. His strong work ethic has helped him achieve a number of successes in his career, but he still makes time to learn new hobbies and take on new adventures. That's a quality I've always admired. I trust him impeccably because frankly, he's never let me or my daughter down. And we laugh together. A lot!

For all these reasons, I would highly recommend Shayan for whatever position he is applying for. He has an uncanny ability to succeed in whatever he puts his mind to. He would be an asset to any organization.
